Three cars for 7 people is potentially too thin. We are sending out 2-person teams per vehicle. We typically do not have spare vehicles. This is now funded under FEMA, and we need folks coming out who can be self-sufficient and properly equipped.

Bold = not optional

Safety Shoes

Proper Level D PPE

Car (one per two people)

Sun glasses

Camera and extra batteries

Navigation Device

EPA logo shirts (strongly recommended to show field presence)

Clipboard (1 per team optional but very helpful)

Hat

Water bottle

Sun screen

Bug spray (Zika, West Nile – not sure the extent of their occurrence)

I had thought it was just the three R7 people and one R2 person we already knew about, but one of the R7 people who got in last night told me there are more on the way. Please confirm who, ETA, and cell numbers.

The water team lead in Houston left me a message on who is deploying from R7 today. Do you know which of those I can have Meaghan coordinate with?
